BIO

A NOSTALGIC SOUND FOR A NEW ERA

Out Run is a synthpop duo that blends the nostalgic allure of the ’80s with a contemporary sonic vision. Formed in Florence, Italy, in 2022, Ginevra and Lawrence, both Italian-American, united by their shared passion for electronic music and synthwave, decided to channel their eclectic influences into a unique artistic journey.

The name "Out Run" pays homage to the iconic ’80s video game, evoking a retro futuristic aesthetic that has become the project’s signature. Out Run consists of singer-songwriter Ginevra Abbarchini and multi-instrumentalist Lawrence Fancelli. With their debut album “Past Lives” Out Run have amassed 6 million streams on Spotify and have captured the attention of a growing audience. Their influences range from Chromatics, Goldfrapp, Phantogram to Kavinsky, fusing synthwave and synthpop with dreamy melodies and cinematic atmospheres. Out Run’s artistic identity is rooted in a nostalgia for an idealized past. Their music is a journey through emotions and memories, brought to life through heartfelt lyrics and refined electronic soundscapes. Out Run have recently completed their first European tour and are currently developing new immersive and visually striking visuals for their upcoming performances as well as working on new material.

PAST LIVES

OUT RUN’S DEBUT ALBUM

Out Run’s debut album consists of a collection of tracks that capture the nostalgia of a past that never truly existed, transforming it into a timeless sonic experience. The album alternates between melancholy, childhood memories, and reflections on human connections. Synth wave and synthpop blend with dreampop and indie influences, creating a cinematic soundscapes filled with emotion and vivid imagery.

Produced entirely by Out Run, the album showcases meticulous attention to detail relying heavily on the Juno 60 and the Prophet 6 synthesizers as well as the Wurlitzer electric piano. Ginevra’s vocals were recorded through a vintage Neumann M367 tube mic and the Copperphone.

LIVE EXPERIENCE

OUT RUN

A JOURNEY THROUGH SOUND AND EMOTION

The Out Run live show is a magnetic experience. On stage, singer Ginevra captivates with raw intensity and expressive performance. At her side, Lawrence sculpts the sound in real time, blending analog synths, drum machines, and evocative textures into a rich electronic tapestry.
The performance unfolds like a journey through sonic landscapes suspended between past and future. The set flows between moments of deep intimacy and rhythmic drive.
Out Run's sound appeals to both electronic music fans and lovers of refined indie pop.
The show currently runs for about 45 minutes and is adaptable to clubs, festivals and art spaces.
An Out Run show is an an intimate exchange between the artists and the audience, an invitation to slow down, listen, and be moved by music that speaks of memory, longing, and the future.
