Message from your Mayor The Current — September 2026 It is my pleasure to welcome you to the first edition of The Current. While this publication is produced by the municipality, it was not created to be a municipal megaphone. Instead, we designed it to be a “community town square” that celebrates our shared history, our diverse talents, and the unique community spirit that defines us. At its heart, this paper is about connection. It’s a way to bring generations together, linking our rich heritage with our bright future. In these pages, we hope to proudly celebrate and spotlight longtime residents, sharing the stories of their years of dedication, leadership, and involvement. For our newer residents, these stories offer a window into the soul of our town, allowing everyone to better appreciate the deep-rooted community spirit that makes this such a special place to live. But a community is a living, evolving story, and we want to shine an equal light on our newer citizens. This paper belongs to you, too. We invite you to make these pages your own by submitting your poetry, local photography, and short stories. By weaving together the wisdom of our history with the fresh perspectives and creative talents of our neighbors, we create a stronger, more vibrant, and more resilient bond. This spirit of collaboration is more important than ever as we move forward into a bright and exciting future. Right now, our town is experiencing a renaissance that is laying the foundation for our future. These projects are a testament to what happens when we work together. By combining public projects with private sector interest and development - we ensure that our growth always honours our identity. This paper will only be as rich and beautiful as the people who contribute to it. I want to thank everyone who helped develop the framework, but the future of this publication now belongs to you. Whether you have a piece of town history to share, a story of decades of involvement, an interesting story idea, upcoming events, or whatever it may be, I urge you to participate and help us tell the story of us.

Pangram.
