

KEEP ALASKA GROWING

2026 ALASKA AGRICULTURE CONFERENCE

DOWNTOWN SHERATON -
ANCHORAGE, AK

November 12 - 14, 2026

PREPARED FOR
SPONSORS AND VENDORS

About

This year's annual Alaska Agriculture Conference brings together some of the state's most active agriculture advocacy organizations to deliver education, resources, and networking opportunities to producers, industry leaders, agriculture professionals, agency representatives, land stewards, small farmers, and new farmers alike.

This conference will provide an effective in-person and virtual platform for our sponsors and vendors to connect with members of Alaska's agriculture community!

Various levels of sponsorship include opportunities for recognition both before and during the event. Vendors will have a chance to engage with more than 200 attendees and showcase their products and services.

Meet Our Event Partners

Alaska Farm Bureau

Alaska Farm Bureau is the state's largest agriculture organization, supporting, educating, and advocating for all Alaska farmers and ranchers, regardless of product or production method, because Alaska agriculture affects us all.

Western SARE

Western SARE advances innovative research and education to improve the profitability, stewardship, and quality of life of American agriculture by investing in projects that actively involve agricultural producers from planning through outreach.

Homer Soil and Water Conservation District in Partnership with USDA NRCS Grazing Lands Conservation Initiative

Homer Soil & Water Conservation District, a local unit of government managing natural resource programs, is partnering with USDA NRCS through the Grazing Lands Conservation Initiative to organize the statewide Grazing Lands Symposium for the 2026 Alaska Agriculture Conference.
