01 / THE PARTY

Their birthday, their world

Picture the birthday child and their friends, each at a laptop, all inside the same Minecraft Education world. They build, explore and laugh together, while I guide the session so everyone can join in, whatever their experience.

I pitch each party to suit the group, with the birthday child at the centre, so it feels like their celebration from start to finish.

What children do

Creative building challenges

Short, playful challenges that give every child the chance to make something of their own.

Teamwork

Friends pair up and team up, sharing ideas and building bigger things together.

Shared adventures

The whole group explores the same world, so the fun is something they experience together.

The birthday child at the centre

Plenty of moments for the birthday child to lead, show off their ideas and be celebrated.

Fun first. Along the way, children are planning, solving problems and working as a team.

ABOUT ME

Jake Miles, Founder

I'm an experienced primary teacher and computing specialist, and I hold an MSc in Education from the University of Bristol. I run Collaborative Computing Education, including Collab Crafters, my Saturday Minecraft Education club in Chippenham.

I plan and lead every party myself, so you'll know exactly who is running the session on the day.

The two hours

All Minecraft time. Plan any food or cake for before or after.

Adults

A parent or responsible adult stays on the premises throughout.

Venue

Host at home, subject to suitable space and setup, or enquire about a hired venue. Venue hire is charged separately.

Where and who

Based in Chippenham, serving the surrounding area. Not sure it suits your child? Get in touch.

Deposit and final numbers

A 20% deposit secures your booking. It is calculated using the party details and guest numbers agreed when booking, subject to the £175 minimum party charge. Your deposit is part of the total price, not an extra charge.

If guest numbers change, you do not need to top up your deposit. Confirm final numbers seven days before the party. I'll calculate the remaining balance using the final price, less the deposit already paid. The balance is due at that point.

Please give me your likely maximum guest numbers when enquiring. Additional children must be agreed in advance, subject to capacity and equipment availability. Any increase after final numbers are confirmed must be agreed and paid for before the party.

Example: Initially book for five children and pay a £35 deposit. If your final numbers increase to eight, the total becomes £280, leaving £245 to pay.

Cancellations and changes

Seven days or more before the party

If you cancel, a cancellation charge capped at the deposit paid may apply. Any payments above the applicable charge will be refunded.

Less than seven days before the party

If you cancel, a cancellation charge of up to 50% of the agreed party fee may apply. This includes your deposit; it is not an additional charge. Any payments above the applicable charge will be refunded.

How cancellation charges are calculated

These are maximum charges, not automatic deductions. I will only retain an amount that reflects my actual losses caused by the cancellation, after allowing for costs saved and any replacement booking. I will take reasonable steps to reduce those losses and explain any deductions.

Changing your date

With at least 14 days' notice, you can move your party once to another available date. Your deposit will transfer to the new booking. Any additional venue costs will be agreed beforehand.

Venue hire

Any separate venue cancellation costs will be explained and agreed before booking. Charges will reflect unavoidable costs after allowing for any venue refund, without charging twice for the same loss.

If I cancel

You can choose a full refund of all payments made to me for the party, including your deposit and any venue hire payments, or an alternative available date.

Please send cancellation requests by email. Notice is measured from the scheduled party start time. Full booking terms are provided before payment. Your statutory rights are unaffected.
