HUD & NIS ALIGNED

Most homebuyer education still assumes buyers have a laptop and a free evening — but today's first-time buyers are learning in the gaps between shifts, on the phone in their pocket.

ReadyOwn Pathway breaks HUD- and NIS-aligned homeownership education into short, mobile-first lessons — most under 10 minutes — so readiness fits into real life instead of requiring it to stop. Buyers pick up where they left off across a bus ride, a break room, or a few minutes before bed, and merit badges and streaks carry their motivation from one bite-sized session to the next until the certificate is done.

USE CASE — A retail associate with no home computer completes two 8-minute lessons on her lunch break and logs her credit score at the bus stop — finishing her HUD-equivalent education in 10 short sessions, entirely from her phone.

WHAT'S IN THE APP

MERIT BADGES

50 collectible badges turn the homebuying journey into a visible, motivating path from first budget to keys in hand.

VISION BOARD

Buyers build a personalized vision board early in the journey, anchoring the curriculum to an emotional “why.”

LEARNING GAMES

A dedicated games area reinforces credit, budgeting, and mortgage concepts through play — not static PDFs.

WARM HANDOFF

Generates a complete HUD intake and FNMA 3.2 data file from the buyer's profile — no duplicate entry, no dropped referrals.

CURRICULUM AT A GLANCE

Six core chapters — credit, budgeting, mortgage basics, the homebuying process, closing, and post-purchase sustainability — plus an 8-lesson down payment assistance module. 14 interactive activities and randomized quizzes (80%+ to pass) lead to a downloadable Home Buyer Education Certificate. Custom illustrated content spans five living contexts (urban, rural, suburban), and Pathway integrates directly with ReadyOwn's consumer DPA discovery platform.
