And what's your prices ?

So what's your contact info and pricing ?

Cuz he fires people for no reason and he's rude to his clients. All the employees there are scared for their jobs and none of them are bad analysts just bad boss. He needs a better system and he constantly changes things and he lies to the clients. He seems all jolly when he's on TikTok but I will tell you, you will never get your refund.

And right now I don't want to charge you I genuinely loved being a credit analyst and I want to do it full time on my own and you had such a bad experience with Brian I just wanted to help you out to hopefully build my business for the future

Well I am not a quitter at all. I am working towards buying a house and need something's fixed

Chris,

To make this process a little easier for you, I have set up a free account for you so you can see in real time the disputes in addition to removals, and additions of accounts. This will not cost you one penny. I'm not concerned about what former employees say about me. I'm an upfront guy and am public about everything. I'm sure you can find the former employees on our website: Please click on the partnership link for IDIQ.
