Meet Your Host

The woman behind the trip – and why she's the right person to take you there.

Aya Ofunniyin

I've been building curated travel experiences for clients for over a decade — but I've been doing this kind of travel my whole adult life. I've been traveling the world for over 20 years — mostly solo, mostly with intention. For me, travel has always been about slowing down enough to actually experience a place. The food, the wine, the history, the people who've shaped a culture over centuries.

La Rioja isn't a destination I researched. It's a destination I fell in love with through the wine and the stories, and decided I needed to see for myself...and I want company this time.

What We Do

*Curated luxury travel for people who want to experience a place
— not just visit it.*

Cultural Immersion

Every trip I build goes deeper than the tourist trail. I'm drawn to food, wine, history, and the texture of everyday local life. That's what I bring to my clients.

Food & Wine Focus

I specialize in destinations where the table is central to the culture. The Caribbean, Africa, Europe — I build itineraries around what you eat, drink, and taste.

Small Groups Done Right

I keep groups intentionally small — intimate enough to feel private, curated enough to feel exclusive. You're not a booking number. You're someone I'm traveling with.

Luxury That Earns It

5-star doesn't mean stuffy. It means waking up somewhere extraordinary, sleeping well, and having what you need to be fully present for the experience.

THE WINE JOURNEY

How a Trip to Tuscany Changed Everything

And where the next chapter takes us — La Rioja, Spain.

2014

Tuscany, Italy

A trip through the Tuscan vineyards with my sister. The wine, the food, the pace — something shifted. I came home with a deeper love for wine and a new way of traveling.

2027

La Rioja, Spain

I want that feeling again—in a new country and a culture still new to me. La Rioja has the history, the wine, and the harvest. This time, I'm inviting you to come with me.

WHY LA RIOJA

Why Spain. Why La Rioja. Why Now.

Why Spain?

I've dipped into Barcelona and loved what I tasted — the food, the architecture, the energy. But I've never gone deep into Spain's wine country. La Rioja is Spain the way Tuscany is Italy. It's where the wine runs through the country's veins.

Why La Rioja?

This is where Spain's most celebrated wine is born. Tempranillo. Harvest season. Vineyards that have been producing since the Roman era. Private estates that don't open their doors to the general public. And a local harvest festival that most travelers never know exists.

Why now?

Because September 2027 puts us in La Rioja during harvest — the one time a year when everything is alive. The vines are heavy. The bodegas are buzzing. The town of Haro opens its streets for a centuries-old festival. You could go in spring. But why would you?

Sip slowly. Savor completely. This is not a tour. This is a journey.
